

WESTERLY

Rev. Samuel M. Catheart, a former pastor of the Pawcatuck Congregational church, now retired, presided at the big meeting in the town hall, Wednesday night in celebration of the Pilgrim tercentenary. The event was under the joint auspices of the Westerly Historical society and the Westerly Board of Trade. The British and American viewpoints were presented by a former member of parliament, P. Whitwell Wilson, correspondent of the London Daily News, and Rev. J. Percival Hugel, D. D., pastor of Trempealeau Avenue Congregational church, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Mr. Wilson said in his address: The great issue which confronts you in America today is whether the ideal of the Mayflower is to continue in your schools and colleges and in your lives, or be swept aside by the tide of immigration from those countries where the Mayflower is little known.

"There is not a church, nor chapel, nor a cathedral in England," he said, "where your country with its boundless possibilities for the future is not held in high appreciation and honor. Three hundred years is a long time. During that time you have grown to full manhood with responsibility to the world and opportunity to come to the relief of distressed humanity."

"The faith of the Mayflower has grown slowly from precedent to precedent. Three hundred years ago there was not a single republic in existence, save perhaps Holland. Now there are but few monarchies and in two of these, England and Italy, the form of government is democratic. The theory of the divine rights of kings against which the Pilgrims protested survives today only in Japan, in great measure the force of the ideal of the Pilgrims."

"In this great country, which the Pilgrims founded, people of all nationalities and creeds have found a safe refuge. They have found political freedom and freedom of conscience, but was also the ideal of service. You are the richest country in the world. The question is not what are you going to get, but what are you going to give."

Rev. Dr. Hugel, who spoke on the coming of the Pilgrims to Plymouth from the American point of view, said in substance: "The voyage of the Pilgrims was part of that uprising on the part of mankind to gain political freedom and freedom of conscience. At that time three hundred years ago, there came that great shifting of the world's political center of gravity from the center of the Latin people near the Mediterranean to the center of the English-speaking world."

Leadership of the Anglo-Saxon peoples, founded upon the principles of scripture, started at that time. This observance commemorates the coming of English-speaking people on both sides of the water.

"Above all things else for the future of mankind, there must be sympathetic understanding and peace between the peoples of America and England. Unless this cooperation is established there is a grave danger of the world falling into a greater darkness than ever before."

Pleasing musical selections were given by the Ashaway trio, Miss Maude Briggs, violin, Mrs. Mary H. C. Crandall, cello, and Miss Mildred Taylor, piano. Hymns were sung by the assembly.

The committee in charge was the officers of the Westerly Historical society and the Westerly Board of Trade, the ministers, and Miss Julia E. Smith and Eugene B. Pendleton.

More than three hundred broadsides, or handbills, loaned by Colonel George L. Shapley to the Rhode Island Historical society, are on exhibition in Providence. They range from poetry to poisonous proclamations from scandal to Washington coué humor, writes W. A. Macdonald in the Boston Transcript.

There is poetry as good as The Battle of Stonington, and as bad as the call to vote for Andrew Jackson. There are broadsides about the Dorr war—a Rhode Island affair in which the Dorrists were accidentally shot—and others about the notorious minister Ray Potter, who publicly announced that he would spend the rest of his life in confession, having spent most of it in sin. Here is the last verse of The Battle of Stonington, an incident of the war of 1812:

Such was the valor on that day
Of British land at Stonington.
But some assert on certain grounds,
Besides the damage and the wounds
It cost their king ten thousand pounds
To have a dash at Stonington.

Curiously the illustration of a soldier at the top of this poem was used thirty years later in a Dorr war broadside. Here is a verse of the Jackson poem, printed under a gloomy wood cut of the candidate:

Come through the heather,
Around him gather,
The hickory tree lay ax on.
Dig deep holes,
Raise high the poles,
Come all and vote for Jackson.

In the collection there is a wood cut of a crude and crowded train, announcing excursion to Stonington whence by boat to New London in 1851. This train was scheduled to leave Providence, Thursday, August 23, at 8 a. m., and the connecting boat to deliver its passengers in New London at about noon. Round trip fare was $2.50.

Proclamations by governors come under the head of broadsides. Incidentally the governor of Rhode Island possesses the longest official title in the United States, and in the case of Governor King this was taken advantage of by political enemies, who, by putting in a comma in the wrong place, made him "Samuel Ward, King, governor, captain-general and commander-in-chief of the State of Rhode Island and Providence Plantations."

Recent real estate transfers recorded in the office of Town Clerk Everett E. Whipple are: Abel P. Tanner et al to John M. Briggs, house and lot at Pleasant View; Curtis F. Kingsbury to Cornelia M. Curtis, house and lot at Pleasant View; Alice M. Johns, administratrix, to Luigi Scialano, et al, lot in John Street; Hattie A. Crandall to Louis Ferente, house and lot in School street; Harriet Griffin to Arthur Fraquelli et al, house and lot in Chestnut street; Mary E. Arnold to Thomas E. Robinson, house and lot in High street; Mary S. Damorel to Westerly Lumber company, lot and buildings in Oak street; Thomas E. Robinson to Hiram A. Edwards, house and lot in High street; Weekapaug Beach and Land Improvement company, to Phoebe W. P. Buffum, land at Weekapaug; Charlene H. Blackler to Beppo Boumenot et al, house and lot in Pierce street; Dwight R. Stillman to Peter De Rocco, house and lots in Canal street; Ronald Y. Sullivan, by guardian, to Peter A. De Rocco, houses and lots in Canal street; Julie A. McGrath to Edgar R. Sweet, et al, house and lot in Summer street; Giuseppe Salemano to Natalie Lupinacci et al, house and lot in Pierce street.

In the same period there were recorded ten mortgages aggregating $25,900, six releases of mortgages, one chattel mortgage, one attachment and two leases.

Frank W. Dewey, Westerly Times publisher, was summoned into the superior court, Wednesday, by writ of attachment to answer to a writ of attachment returned against him by the grand jury. A. C. Mitchell, publisher of the Westerly Times, is in connection with a report of the failure of the Western police in not arresting Antonio Capucio for shooting Frank Manna. It is alleged that Dewey's newspaper, in an article printed, based upon what Mr. Dewey termed street or common talk or its equivalent, stated that Officer Mitchell withheld information he possessed in regard to the escape of Capucio, instead of imparting it to the members of the force who were making an effort to locate Capucio on the night of the shooting. The complaint was first brought to the grand jury of the previous term of the court and no indictment was returned. The matter was brought to the grand jury of the present term and a secret indictment was returned. When arraigned Mr. Dewey pleaded not guilty to the charge. He furnished a bond of $1,000 to appear for trial when the case is resumed.

The court will finish at Kingston this week and adjourn to continue in Westerly Monday. The first case assigned for trial will be that of the state against Charles Bailey, charged with the shooting and killing of his brother, Edgar A. Bailey. Following this case, the next sea dogfish trial is the state against Salvatore and Joseph Savona, brother, charged with maintaining a liquor nuisance in Canal street.

Westerly Chapter, American Red Cross, has started the campaign for members and friends and there will be activity in that line for a week. Miss Katherine Foster will be in charge. The captains and teams selected are as follows: Mrs. Henry L. Burdick, captain; Miss Ruth Taylor, Miss Margaret Pagan, Mrs. Harold Livingston, Mrs. George B. Uiter, Miss Elizabeth Haswell, captain; Mrs. F. F. Savage, Mrs. Alexander Mitchell, Mrs. Dorothy Perry, Miss Marion Barnes, Mrs. Parquhar Smith.

Mrs. Frank Furness, captain; Miss Mary Bennett, Mrs. Samuel Givens, Mrs. Henry Stable, Miss Josephine Cousins, Mrs. Edwin J. Hall, captain; Mrs. Charles J. Butler, Miss Edna Saunders, Mrs. Frank Sullivan, Mrs. A. H. Spicer, Jr., Mrs. Orlando Smith, Miss Phoebe Perry, Miss Anna Pendleton.

Mrs. John V. Moore, captain; Mrs. J. Brown, Miss Mary Murphy, Mrs. Laine, Mrs. L. G. McLaren, Mrs. Isaac Smith, Mrs. Russell Hemphill, captain; Mrs. Fred Rogers, Miss Katherine Frankenstein, Miss Ella Stillwell, Mrs. Clara G. Hall, Mrs. Cundall.

Ms. Joseph Grilla, captain; Mrs. Paul Bates.

Antway—Miss Maud Rogers, captain; Miss Mildred Taylor, Mrs. Gibson, Mrs. Lloyd Briggs.

The Westerly-owned aeroplane, of the Colonial Air Service, Inc., is in readiness for a fly to Raleigh, N. C., where the company has contract with the chamber of commerce to make aerial photographs of the city, and also engage in passenger service. It is expected that the start will be made from Lower Pawcatuck on Friday and Saturday, and it is expected the journey of 700 miles will be covered at the rate of 100 miles an hour, under favorable conditions. Cash Miller and Lieut. Paul R. Moore, R. F.

C. as pilot will make the trip by air line. George H. Barker and Dr. Harold D. Kenyon, stockholders in the corporation have made the business arrangements. Mr. Miller expects to remain with Moore about two months and Dr. Kenyon expects to spend the winter in the south.

Local Laconics

Rev. Frederick Allan MacDonall, pastor of Pawcatuck Congregational church, has received a call to the First Presbyterian church at Long Branch, N. J.

A local dealer says that the higher turkeys roost the higher the price. He says they are roosting high and are hard to get.

With a strong wind from off shore Wednesday was an ideal day for duck hunting in this section. Many lovers of the sport were away from their regular business.

Masthead encampment of Westerly and Niantic encampment of Hope Valley, I. O. O. F., and members from other places, will visit from your district 1 ounce of Parmit (double strength). Take this home and add to it 1-4 pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar; stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day. This will often bring quick relief from your distressing head, nose, closed nostrils should open, breathing become easy and hearing improve as the inflammation in the eustachian tubes is reduced. Parmit used in this way acts directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system and has a tonic action that helps to obtain the desired results. The preparation is easy to make, costs little and is pleasant to take. For a person who has catarrh or head noises or is hard of hearing should give this treatment a trial.

CUT THIS OUT

OLD ENGLISH RECIPE FOR CATARRH, CATARRHAL DEAFNESS AND HEAD NOISES

If you know of someone who is troubled with catarrhal deafness, head noises or ordinary catarrh, cut out this formula and hand it to them and you may have been the means of saving some poor sufferer perhaps from total deafness. In England scientists for a long time past have recognized that catarrh is a constitutional disease and necessarily requires constitutional treatment.

Sprays, inhalers and nose douches are liable to irritate the delicate air passages and force the disease into the middle ear, which frequently means total deafness, or else the disease may be driven down the air passages towards the lungs, which is equally as dangerous. The following formula, which is used extensively in the damp English climate, is a constitutional treatment and should prove especially efficacious to sufferers here who live under more favorable climate conditions.

Secure from your druggist 1 ounce of Parmit (double strength). Take this home and add to it 1-4 pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar; stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day. This will often bring quick relief from your distressing head, nose, closed nostrils should open, breathing become easy and hearing improve as the inflammation in the eustachian tubes is reduced. Parmit used in this way acts directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system and has a tonic action that helps to obtain the desired results. The preparation is easy to make, costs little and is pleasant to take. For a person who has catarrh or head noises or is hard of hearing should give this treatment a trial.

STONINGTON

Francis E. Harrington, of the state board of education, told of the value of the night school, in a talk to the Travel club Tuesday. He declared Stonington was lacking in matters educational when night schools were provided.

Henry R. Palmer presided at the quarterly meeting of the Stonington Free Library association. The reports of the officers were received and approved. During the quarter sixty-two books were added to the library.

William R. Snyder, superintendent of schools, is confined to his home by illness.

MYSTIC

The marriage of Miss Lucy Whitman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Whitman, and Thomas Whitman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Whitman, was solemnized on Wednesday morning at 9.15 o'clock at St. Patrick's church by Rev. W. J. Fitzgerald. The bride's gown was white satin with pearl trimmings. She wore a veil and carried a bouquet of white chrysanthemums. She was attended by her cousin from New Bedford whose gown was of pink satin and who carried pink chrysanthemums. John Whittier, brother of the groom, was best man. Miss Mary Bray was at the organ and music was furnished by the Squadrato brothers. Miss Marie Preisher and Mrs. Ada Conlors sang during the nuptial mass. After the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents, on Grove avenue, the house being decorated in a color scheme of pink and green. The bride received many gifts of linen, silver, cut glass, and money. After a short wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Whitman will return to the home of the bride's parents, where they will reside this winter. Guests were present at the wedding from Norwich, New London, Montville and New Bedford.

Son the time ago the R. Y. P. U. of the Baptist church arranged for a contest and two teams were chosen, the Reds and the Blues. The objects were to see which team would be able to learn the more verses of scripture, attend church the greatest number of Sundays and take the more active part in the meetings. As the Reds won the contest, the Blues agreed to give a supper for them in the church parlors this (Thursday) evening at six o'clock, and this will be followed by a short entertainment.

Mrs. Frank Edgerton was a Norwich visitor Friday.

Mrs. George W. Baker of Putnam visited local relatives Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Tillinghast were called to North Stonington Saturday to attend the funeral of Mrs. Tillinghast's father, who was instantly killed by a tree falling on him while he was at work in the woods Wednesday.

The King's Daughters held a successful food sale at Thompson's store Friday afternoon.

Mrs. Caleb Bishop of Bishop's Crossing was a visitor at Mrs. Lowell Horton's Sunday.

Miss Dulsie Herbert of North Stonington has come here to make her home with her sister, Mrs. Albert Tillinghast, on account of the recent death of her father, Arthur Herbert.

Friday afternoon about 1.30 o'clock the Central Fire company was called to the home of George Craft, at the roof of the barn was burning. Although they quickly responded, the roof was blazing furiously and there was no hopes of saving the barn. New shingles which had been stored in the barn were removed and several other things were saved, but the entire structure was quickly destroyed. There was some hay in it, but no cattle or other livestock. It is thought a passing train caused the fire, as one had passed shortly before the blaze was discovered by men who were unloading coal from cars near the barn.

The teachers' training class met Thursday evening with Mrs. Robert Loring.

The Central Village Girls' club held a public reception at their rooms Friday afternoon and evening. It was largely attended and an enjoyable afternoon and evening passed cozily with music and refreshments. This is the first time since the club was organized that the general public has inspected the cozy and comfortable rooms.

Edward Cutler has been in Providence on a business trip.

Mrs. Bridget Reid, who has been caring for an invalid in Danvers, has been at her home for a few days.

Forster Burgess of New London was here Saturday. He has been wiring Gilligan Dyer's new house near Ladd's Corner for electric lights.

A curious fact has been noticed by Arc. the travelers—snow, when at a very low temperature, absorbs moisture and dries garments.
